

5 NEW MEMBERS NAMED TO CHEST BOARD MONDAY

Seven directors, five of them new, were elected at the annual meeting of the Community Chest Monday night in the firemen's meeting room at the engine house. At a meeting of the board of directors which followed, Burgess William G. Weaver was elected president of the Chest organization.

Attorney Donald M. Swope was elected vice president, succeeding Mr. Weaver, who replaced Glenn Guise as president. Richard E. Dreas was re-elected treasurer. The office of recording secretary, a position held by Mr. Swope, was abolished, and the entire secretarial work will be handled by Mrs. Grace Pfeiffer, executive secretary.

Stover Small and Mr. Dreas were the two directors re-elected. New ones are Mrs. W. R. Sammel, Clark Smith, J. Herbert Raymond, Attorney Eugene R. Hartman and Mrs. Donald Sheely. The terms are for three years. Dean W. E. Tibberg was chairman of the nominating committee.

Treasurer Reports

President Guise presided at both meetings. A report of the auditing committee, N. A. Meligakes and Stover Small, recommended that a vote of thanks be given Treasurer Dreas for the manner in which the books and records were kept.

The report of the treasurer showed that $20,643.20 was donated or pledged toward the Chest's goal of $22,000 in 1950. There were 1,380 contributors compared with 1,247 in 1949 and 1,450 in 1948. Mr. Dreas said that although the campaign failed to reach its goal last year, a balance from the preceding year of over $1,200, plus $850 in the contingent fund assured that no member organization would be curtailed in its funds.

The Boy Scouts of the Black Walnut district were granted permission to conduct a special fund-raising campaign between May 15 and 30. The drive will coincide with a campaign throughout the York-Adams district.

$58,600 Campaign

Attorney Edward B. Bulleit, chairman of the Black Walnut district, presented David Dickson, Scout field executive, who told of the plans for the drive.

Mr. Dickson cited an expanding Boy Scout program brought about by increased membership, an $11,000 deficit and need for $35,000 to complete the lake at Camp Tuckahoe, as reasons for the drive, the total amount of which is $58,600. York county, he said would be asked to raise the bulk of this amount, $5,000 is to be raised by the Black Walnut district, $4,000 in Gettysburg and

NAZI PRISONER TELLS OF LIFE IN LABOR CAMPS

"Concentration camps lead to forced labor camps, and forced labor camps lead to virtual enslavement of all workers," Heinz Langerhans, of the faculty of Gettysburg college told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening in the YWCA.

A "veteran" of five and a half years in a Nazi concentration camp, the local professor said, "The Russians were the first to develop this 'new institution.' In the USSR the number of persons in forced labor camps is estimated variously at from eight to 20 million. Permanent recruiting for the slave labor camps sometimes does not equal the number who drop out due to death."

Running afoul of the Nazi authorities because of his magazine "Initiative" which, as he put it, "urged people to take the initiative against the barbarism of Nazism," Langerhans was put in a Nazi concentration camp near Berlin.

Character Of Camp

"The character of our camp changed between June 18 and June 20, 1938," Langerhans said. "Before that we were a camp with a population of about 2,200 people. We were of two types, professional criminals and political prisoners."

An anticipated rebate of a $60 tax on the new car will bring the amount to $748.50.

The bid submitted by Warren Chevrolet quoted the price of the car at $1,611.25, plus $3.30 for a heavy duty clutch and $72.70 for a heavy duty generator, $26 additional for leather seats and $7.50 for transferring equipment from the old car to the new one. An alternate proposal was made, using the generator on the present police car, a Ford, but without leather seats, at $721.97. Adams County Motors submitted a third proposal for a six-cylinder car at $1,758.58, less $55 tax and $908.58 allowance for the old car, net $795. This bid included heavy duty generator and clutch and leather seats.

The council voted four for the Chevrolet and three for the Ford.

Local Motor Club Hits New High In Membership; Many Services Available Including Insurance

The almost phenomenal growth of the Gettysburg Motor club of Adams county, is reflected in a recent membership report of the Pennsylvania Motor federation, the state AAA body.

Miss Spangler said that emergency road service, tire change, complete travel information and map service are still provided without charge to members and that a bail bond and personal accident policy, which graduates in face value each year for five successive renewals, are still included in the membership.

Many Inquiries Here

Besides being secretary of the motor club, a position she has held for many years, Miss Spangler is manager of the local office which handles hundreds of inquiries annually. Miss Spangler has established a considerable reputation as a planner of motor tours and has at her disposal up-to-date detour and construction maps which enable her to select routes for AAA members that save many miles of bad traveling conditions.

It is said that few members of the Adams county AAA unit make long journeys without first having Miss Spangler mark out the routes that are best to follow. Visiting AAA members are high in their praise of her touring service, too.

The Gettysburg Motor Club of Adams county was organized about 25 years ago and has been in its present location in the Weaver building for nearly 20 years.

SAYS RELIGIOUS NEEDS CITED AT W.H. CONFERENCE

"The primacy of spiritual values, of the need for religious training and for church attendance by both children and their parents was stressed in all sections of the White House Mid-Century Conference for Children and Youth," Mrs. R. S. Saby told a meeting of the county White House Conference committee at the court house Monday evening.

"The number one recommendation of the Pennsylvania committee, stressing the need for religious training and church attendance, came out in every discussion I attended at Washington. The importance of religious and spiritual values was stressed in practically every talk and discussion."

Many Not Reached

"Reports at the meetings showed that possibly half of the children in the nation are not reached by any religious organization. There was a general feeling that the three great faiths should get together on a basic teaching of religious values to be presented in the public schools; there was a feeling that every community should get together to provide more teaching of religious values," Mrs. Saby said.

Mrs. Saby and Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the county conference, who were present at the conference at Washington, reported on a number of other recommendations.

MacArthur On Trip To Front Sees Guns Hit Faltering Reds

Tokyo, Feb. 20 (AP)—General MacArthur recalled the roaring central Korean front today, watched Allied guns and warplanes pound the fading Reds and then ordered his troops to resume the initiative generally.

This did not mean necessarily that Allied forces would attempt a new drive across the Parallel 38 border into Red Korea.

When MacArthur spoke, the Allies already had kicked off on a renewal of the "limited offensive" that started January 25 and was stalled only last week by a massive Red push that failed.

"If And When"

MacArthur recalled that President Truman had said the general should make the decision whether to cross the border again. But he told war correspondents at the front: "I shall not arbitrarily execute that authority. . . ."

The Allied commander indicated that "if and when" Allied troops reach the border, he would give consideration to any "cogent political reasons against the crossing."

The British are leaders in the opposition to crossing the 38 again. They were reluctant to send their forces across last fall at the high tide of Allied offensive efforts against the Red Koreans—before Red China turned the Allies back.

Tides of War Have Shifted

When Allied troops after thrusting into Red Korea last fall drove close to the Manchurian border all across the peninsula, China threw tens of thousands of her regular army forces into the conflict.

That action forced an Allied retreat back into South Korea.

Since Jan. 25 when the new Eighth army commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, ordered his "limited offensive," the tides of war have shifted again. The Allies have won back much of the South Korea area they gave up, including key places in the Seoul-Inchon area but not the capital itself.

Chinese losses, MacArthur said, have been among the bloodiest in modern times. Allied forces have chewed up some of the best troops of Red China, he added, and they will be hard to replace.

Limited Offensive

Before MacArthur flew to the Wonju airstrip Tuesday morning, Allied forces rolled behind tanks in a northward thrust along the central front. Field dispatches still described the action as a limited offensive, a renewal of the Red-killing raids Ridgway has used to cut deeply into Chinese strength.

Frontline reports said 30,000 Communists were massing around Hongch'on, a road center 25 air miles north of Wonju and a Communist massing point for their counter-attack last week. Their big thrust then won some ground but failed to crack the central front. Another 10,000 Reds were reported northeast of Wonju.

It was to this area that MacArthur went for another of his close looks at the war. He was accompanied by Ridgway, Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, chief of U.S. Ground Forces, and Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander.

When he returned to Tokyo, he reported the Allied ground forces "in excellent fettle."

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—Top labor leaders carried their grievances to Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston today, and Johnston called Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, into the meeting.

A wage formula approved 6 to 3 by Ching's board is one of the chief grievances of the labor group, the United Labor Policy committee. Now awaiting approval by Johnston before it can become effective, the formula would hold wage increases to 10 per cent above a year ago.

He said he was amazed that the prison doesn't have a deep belt of reinforced concrete under it.

Holmes was the object of a hunt in 13 states today. The 39 year old negro escaped Sunday morning through a 70 foot tunnel the warden estimates took two years of painstaking digging.

CIRCUS LION KILLS TIGER

Detroit, Feb. 20 (AP)—The fury of the jungle asserted itself in the sawdust of a circus yesterday.

Sheba, a royal Bengal tiger of Clyde Beatty's animal act, was slain. Prince, a big African lion, was the killer.

The scene was the Shrine circus at the Fair Grounds Coliseum. Three thousand school children were among the spectators.

Prince pounced on Sheba and sank his teeth into her back, in the course of an act accompanied by barking guns and snapping whips of trainers.

So swift was the kill, however, that few if any of the wide-eyed youngsters knew what happened. But their elders missed none of it. "My kid," said one man, "was more interested in when he was going to get his balloon."

It was an unequal match. Prince leaped from his pedestal without warning. He was much bigger than Sheba. She hadn't a chance.

In the shock of the attack, Beatty could do nothing to stop it.

But he did hold back other animals both lions and tigers in his act. And a roustabout fired blank cartridges at Prince through the cage bars.

The lion let go. Sheba dragged herself away. About an hour later she was dead.

"She was the whole act," Beatty said. "I wouldn't have taken $10,000 for her."

The show, of course, went on, with Prince still in the act.

D-SON CAGERS TO PLAY HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Sporting a 72.1 point average for their 17 games and winners of their last five games in a row, the Gettysburg college dribblers will seek their sixth straight triumph Wednesday evening when Dickinson college will be met on the college floor.

Despite a 82-60 victory gained at Carlisle on February 7, the Bullets are anticipating a stiff battle with their old rivals.

Dickinson was beset with injuries early in the campaign but now has its full strength available. On Saturday the Red Devils turned in a 79-75 victory over Franklin and Marshall and will come here determined to halt the high-flying Bullets.

Coach Chuck Kennedy has a veteran team in Silke, Kinsella, Stark, Zilling and Gohrecht and if the squad hits its stride the Bullets would be in for a hot evening.

Better Performances
The Bullets have been improving steadily during the last several weeks. Belber, considered as a good prospect for all state honors, has been playing the best game of his career. Gene Coder, George Hare, Stretch Watson and Bob O'Brien, who complete the starting outfit, have been exhibiting form far above the early season level.

Five more games remain on the Bulletin card. Following Wednesday's tilt the Bullets play at Lehigh Saturday, meet Bucknell here on February 28, face F. and M. at Lancaster on March 3 and finish by being host to Muhlenberg on March 7.

The college freshmen will meet the Red Devil yearlings Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Sports Roundup

By MURRAY ROSE

New York, Feb. 20 (AP) — Jack Kearns is one manager who commands plenty of respect from his fighters. Jack definitely is not one of the "they can't hurt us—go get 'em" school. In his early days as a manager, before he piloted Jack Dempsey and tapped a gold mine—Kearns had a fighter who was matched with Jolly Rogers. Now Rogers was a pretty good boxer who later on was matched with the great Joe Gans. Kearns' man broke his hand before the Rogers date and it looked like the two were out of a $150 purse. That was big money in those days. So rather than lose the payday, Kearns fought Rogers himself—and knocked him out.

We got that little anecdote out of Nat Fleischer's "ring record book for 1951." It's the tenth anniversary number of this invaluable collection and it's bigger and better than ever. Its 813 pages are crammed with facts and figures about the great and near great in boxing since the earliest days of the fatiguing sport. Who was the first heavyweight champion? Ten to one if you ask someone, he'll say John L. Sullivan. The answer is James Figg, born in Oxfordshire, England, in 1656. He died at the age of 39.

Which State has had the most boxing champions? New York with 33. Then comes Pennsylvania, 18; California, 12, and Illinois, 11. All told 28 states have had at least one titleholder. Are the names of Jack McAuliffe and Jimmy Barry familiar to you? They are the only two outstanding boxers in modern history to go through entire careers without defeat.

Fleischer's book, just off the presses and limited to an addition of 3,000 copies, lists the records of some 4,900 fighters, about 1,000 less than last year. That indicates the decline of boxing in this country as well as the deep inroads the draft is making into the game. . . . The European list, however, has 300 more boxers than last year.

New Oxford-East Berlin Game Tonight's Cage Program

New Oxford will be the center of attraction for county basketball fans tonight where Coach Marty Fiegl's cagers entertain East Berlin in the key game to the Adams County League title.

A win for New Oxford would create a three-way tie for first place between the winners, East Berlin and York Springs. On the other hand, Coach John Miller's East Berlin outfit can sew up the title outright through a triumph.

East Berlin won 42-25 earlier in the season at East Berlin but expect much keener opposition for tonight's all-important game. An over-flow crowd is promised.

Completing the league schedule tonight when the regular loop season is concluded will be Littlestown at Newville and Biglerville at Bolling Springs.

Warriors At Hanover
George Forney's Gettysburg high dribblers will tangle with Bernie Thrush's Hanover high outfit tonight at Hanover. The nighthawks scored a 33-26 triumph here last month and are favored to win this evening. The Warriors wind up their campaign on Friday when Mechanicsburg will be met here.

MICELI BEATS IKE WILLIAMS

Philadelphia, Feb. 20 (AP)—Joe Miceli emerged as a contender for the welterweight championship by punching lightweight king Ike Williams groggy last night, but it won't do him much good.

The young New York Italian has a date with Uncle Sam in a few days. Actually, he was slated for induction into the army yesterday, but his draft board gave him a few days' grace so he could fight here.

The 7,801 fans who paid $27,385 to see the 10-round battle at the Arena stood and cheered as Miceli pounded Williams with a side arm left that landed on the champ's face and body with sledgehammer force. And when the fight failed, Miceli lashed out with a right that was equally potent.

Williams Needed Help
The tenth round ended with Williams needing help from Referee Charley Daggert to find his corner, whereas Miceli looked as if he could go 10 more. One judge and Daggert gave Miceli six rounds, Williams there and called one even. The other judge marked his card six-four for Miceli.

Beating Williams was nothing new for Miceli, who turned the trick in Milwaukee recently, also on a unanimous decision. Then he lost a close split verdict to Ike, at the same place. This was the rubber match. "I beat him worse in our first fight," said Joe in his dressing room after the fight. "In fact, I think I won the decision they gave him in the second fight."

Miceli at 143½ had a two-pound weight edge over Williams and used it to good advantage. He would smash Ike with a left then clinch, leaning his weight against the champion. When Williams seemed to have solved the left, Miceli brought his right into play.

The fight seemed to prove a point Williams is reluctant to admit, that while he is a great lightweight champion he is just a so-so welterweight.

KENTUCKY FIVE RETAINS RANK AS TOP OUTFIT

New York, Feb. 20 (AP)—For the fifth straight week Kentucky is the leading basketball team in the country. The Wildcats, sporting a 16-game winning streak, again edged out Oklahoma A & M in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Columbia, the only major unbeaten team left, moved up to third place, replacing Kansas State, which slipped to fifth.

Indiana also advanced, from sixth to fourth place, but that was before the Hoosiers dropped a 71-65 decision to Illinois last night. Illinois, now a heavy favorite in the Western conference, moved from 11th place into the select group with a 10th place finish.

The rest of the top 10 consists of St. Louis (6), Bradley (7), St. John's of Brooklyn (8) and North Carolina State (9).

Kentucky, which edged DePaul, 60-57, last night for its 22nd victory against one setback, drew 62 first-place votes from the 110 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the balloting.

Qualifies for NCAA
The Wildcats, Southeastern conference champions for the eighth straight year, conclude their regular season Friday and Saturday with games against Georgia and Vanderbilt. By winning the SEC, Kentucky has qualified for a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Oklahoma A & M whipped Tulsa and Detroit last week, but, apparently, it didn't impress the experts too much. The Aggies received 23 first-place votes for 921 points compared to Kentucky's 1,636. Hank Iba's crew, with a 23-1 record, plays Houston tomorrow and Wichita on Saturday.

Columbia (17-0) turned back Yale and Harvard last week to clinch at least a tie for the Ivy league championship. The Lions received four first-place votes and 615 points to gain their highest ranking of the season. Columbia meets Army tomorrow and Navy Saturday.

No doubt Indiana will lose some backing after the loss to Illinois. Actually, the Hoosiers attracted three more top ballots than Columbia, 7, but the Lions outdistanced them in the important point column. Indiana got 596 points.

Community Cage League

The Texas Lunch and Mack's Atlantic cagers won the opening games of the Community Cage League tournament Monday evening.

Paced by George Gorman who accounted for 26 points, the Texas Lunch, regular season champs, laced the Glenn L. Bream garage team 72-41. Mack's Atlantic nosed out the Soupers 48-47.

On Thursday the Soupers and garagemen will play at 7:30 with the Texas Lunch and Mack's Atlantic clashing at 8:30. Two defeats are necessary to eliminate a team from the playoff.

LOCAL MATMEN ARE DEFENDERS IN MACWA MEET

Lewisburg, Pa., Feb. 20—There will be no dull moments during the 13th annual meet of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Wrestling association here in Bucknell's Davis Gymnasium.

The Middle Atlantic association decision to stage bouts simultaneously on two mats assures unusual action for the opening sessions Friday night and Saturday afternoon. March 2 and 3. Individual and team championships will be decided in the tournament finals, Saturday night, March 3.

With 64 wrestlers scheduled to compete in the tourney, Middle Atlantic officials sanctioned the dual-mat plan because of the large entry. The two-day eliminations call for a total of 80 bouts, including 56 in the championship flight and 24 for consolation points.

8 Enter Tourney
Gettysburg college will defend the Middle Atlantic honors for the second year in a row. The contenders will be Bucknell, Delaware, Haverford, Lafayette, Muhlenberg, Swarthmore and Ursinus.

Coach Clyde Cole's squad proved this past week-end that it is again the team to beat. The Gettysburg wrestlers turned in a convincing victory, 22 to 8 over Bucknell's high-lit rated squad that was unbeaten in four encounters with Middle Atlantic foes. Gettysburg is undefeated in three Middle Atlantic starts.

Two of the five champions who will defend division titles are Gettysburg men. They are John Longe, 121-pounder, and Jim Woods, 130-pound champ.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IN MEMORY OF LOUISE BAER

A star in the sky went out in the human heavens when Louise Baer slipped silently away in the night last year, but a continuous light remains in millions of lives to whom her unselfish efforts were devoted that more hearts might live for continuous service.

This frail, yet joyous and lovable woman, devoted all her last years to the raising of funds for the New York Heart campaigns. In less than two years she raised over a million dollars. A former stage star, she was the wife of the noted humorist Arthur (Bugs) Baer. She herself was a heart sufferer, but few outside her intimate friends ever suspected it, for into her work she threw her devoted self unstintingly.

As wife, mother and friend she was always an inspiration. Rarely have I ever met anyone so imbued with selflessness. Her presence in a group of her friends was like that of a Spring flower, full of fragrance and beauty. She always left a glow of hope in those whom she contracted, and endless others who never knew her will benefit from her tireless efforts in their behalf.

Like a soldier in battle who gives his all, so did Louise Baer give her all. Hers was a fighting heart to the very end—fighting for other hearts that they might live longer and serve. She sparked every campaign she entered for the raising of funds for this noble cause. She looked forward to her greatest campaign when she was gravely stricken and taken away. The inspiration of her life, however, remains to be carried on by others into whom she injected her love and her spirit.

These heart campaigns for the raising of funds for further and continuous research are universal ones, limited to no local community. Too many useful hearts are being snuffed out by dread disease, long before their time for full fruition. To the memory of all the Louise Baers, who have so devoted their lives to this cause, do we owe the inspiration to carry on, in their spirit to final victory!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Boners"

WOMAN'S WORRIES

"I wanted this," the woman said:

"To watch for him when he was late;

To hear his heavy footstep tread,
His hand unlatch the gate.

"I chose to wonder, were he
And are his comrades good or no;

And why he doesn't come to me
He hasn't let me know.

"From what I've seen and heard,
I know

All men are thoughtless, now
And then.

They often worry women so;
Regret, and do the same again.

"All these are women's worries small,
And patient with them we must be.

I chose to know them, one and all.
I wanted him to worry me."

REV. G. H. KOONS IS INSTALLED AT CHRIST CHURCH

In connection with the installation of the Rev. G. Howard Koons, as new pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed church, the union vesper service was held at Christ church on Sunday evening. The Rev. Mr. Koons was installed by the Rev. Irvin A. Raubenhold, president of the Mercersburg Synod and pastor of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church, York. The Rev. Dr. Edward O. Keen, also a member of the Synodical Council, was unable to be present for the service, due to illness. The Rev. Mr. Raubenhold addressed a very large audience. Using as his text St. John 17:11: "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are." The speaker challenged both pastor and congregation to remember their moral obligations and above all he pointed out that they are ambassadors of Christ, and the one supreme purpose of the ministry is to preach the gospel which makes souls repentant.

Following the sermon Orville C. Sentz, vice president of Christ church consistory, presented the Rev. Mr. Koons at the chancel where he was officially installed as pastor of Christ church by the Rev. Mr. Raubenhold. He was welcomed into Mercersburg Synod by the Rev. Mr. Raubenhold who ushered him into the pulpit where, at the close of the service, he dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

The union vesper service this Sunday evening will be held at St. John's Lutheran church. The Rev. Arthur E. Leeming, superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, will be the guest speaker. The Rev. Mr. Leeming was secured as speaker through the efforts of the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed church. The 7:30 o'clock service will be in charge of the host pastor, the Rev. Kenneth D. James.

The Rev. G. Howard Koons is a native of State Line, Franklin county, Pa., and was graduated from Greencastle high school, Ursinus college, Collegeville, Pa., and the Lancaster Theological seminary.

He began his ministry in the Cash-town charge, Fairfield, in July, 1931, where he served eight years. During his pastorate there the exterior of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Fairfield, was painted; the interior of Trinity church, Cash-town was redecorated; the interior of St. John's church, McKnightstown, was redecorated, an altar installed and a new floor placed in the Sunday school room.

On May 1, 1939, the Rev. Mr. Koons accepted a call to Christ Evangelical and Reformed church, Roaring Springs. While pastor there the membership increased from 159 to 226; the benevolence was met in full; Christ church was the first congregation in the denomination to subscribe and overpay the first quota on World Service. The congregation raised $1,000 to place the Reik Memorial room in New Homewood at Hagerstown. The interior and exterior of the church and parsonage were painted and redecorated. The Rev. Mr. Koons conducted a week of special services in observance of the 36th anniversary of the church.

A call to Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, Campbelltown, Pa., was accepted by the Rev. Mr. Koons on October 15, 1946. During his pastorate there the membership increased, the benevolence was met, the annual directory inaugurated; and church improvement made.

The Rev. Mr. Koons accepted a call to Christ Evangelical and Reformed church, Littlestown on February 1. The Rev. and Mrs. Mrs. Koons and children John, George, Evelyn, Nancy and Ruth moved into the newly renovated Christ Church parsonage on East King street on January 31. Mrs. Koons was the former Miss Mildred J. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brown, formerly of Fairfield, now of Gettysburg.

A reception was held for the Rev. and Mrs. Koons and family by the Christ church congregation last Tuesday evening at the church. They were the recipients of many gifts, including a large amount of food stuffs at the reception.

New York, Feb. 20 (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, 83-year-old conductor, has entered temporary retirement following the recurrence of trouble from an old knee injury.

His "final performance of the season" was Saturday night at Carnegie Hall, where he conducted the National Broadcasting Company Symphony orchestra.

He has cancelled two more scheduled engagements with the NBC orchestra and appearances abroad. Many music lovers speculated that Toscanini's retirement might be permanent, but the conductor only said he regretted being "unable to fulfill his scheduled season."

SPACE TRAVEL "CLOSER THAN MOST REALIZE"

Point Mugu, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)

Space travel is "closer than most people realize," says the senior test engineer for the Fairchild guided missiles division at the navy's secret missile test center here.

As proof, Arthur V. St. Germain offered detailed plans for a five stage rocket which he said could carry two men to the moon, land there and return. He said his design, while not in production, is practical with "the application of techniques already at our disposal."

"This is probably the first time in history that people have known so much about an invention yet to be made," he said in an interview yesterday.

St. Germain is an authority on rockets, missiles and jet engines. Point Mugu is the site from which the navy launches top secret weapons which travel hundreds of miles out to sea. St. Germain's spaceship is one of the latest concepts for travel to the moon and back. But the fact that he could talk about it for publication indicates the craft is not an immediate project.

Would Land Tail First

The spaceship would tower 325 feet into the air above the launching site, weigh 360,000 pounds and attain a speed of 25,000 miles an hour. Power would be provided by four rockets, one telescoped inside the other, which would drop off one by one as the ship roared upward through the earth's gravitational sphere.

The fifth rocket, carrying the crew, would coast to the moon once it reached outer space. Its fuel would be conserved for the trip home. The return journey would require far less fuel because the moon being smaller than the earth, has little gravitational pull.

St. Germain said liquid hydrogen and oxygen would be the best fuels, pending development of an atomic engine. He added that the landing on the moon would be made tail first with jets and rockets acting as brakes.

CHURCHILL IN NEW ATTACKS ON SOCIALISTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Four times this month British Prime Minister Attlee's Socialist government has avoided, by a slim majority, a Parliamentary defeat which would have forced its resignation.

Naturally Mr. Attlee is glad his regime still lives—but he hardly can be happy. His position is too precarious to permit of satisfaction in face of the blistering offensive being led by wartime Prime Minister Churchill, leader of the Conservative party.

Underlying this touch-and-go conflict in Commons, in the view of many British political observers, is lack of public confidence in government policies. These experts go even further and say that if there were a new general election now the Conservative party would win.

Attlee Hits Tough Luck

Why? Well, for one thing it wouldn't be surprising if Mr. Attlee, as skipper of Britain's first outright Socialist regime, had run into some very tough luck. Like a lot of other countries, Britain has been hard hit economically by the ramifications of the cold war between bolshevism and the democracies. Her people are living under a harsh regime of austerity which extends clear back to the start of World War II.

There is a shortage of many food-stuffs, including meat. There is a bad shortage of coal, despite Britain's great resources underground. And many other essentials, not to mention luxuries, are scarce. So the long-suffering public is fed up and is assessing much of the blame against the government. Mismanagement is charged.

Moreover, a large section of the public isn't happy with the nationalization scheme of the government. They cite the coal shortage as an instance, since this great industry was one of the first to be nationalized. And many folk are badly worried over what may happen to Britain's great steel industry, now that the government has taken it over.

Capital for Churchill

Naturally Winston Churchill has capitalized each item of public discontent.

And he has filed another motion of censure which is scheduled for debate tomorrow. This has to do with the government's huge—but so far ill-fated—scheme for raising peanuts in Africa to get food fats. This much-advertised peanut scheme already has piled up a monetary loss equivalent to $102,000,000. The government is asking Parliament to write this loss off, and proposes to substitute a smaller scale peanuts project. Churchill's latest motion of censure calls for Parliamentary rejection of this proposal. Thus the government's fate again will be in question.

ISSUE OF PAY FOR WORKERS IN C-D IS UP

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—The House faced an issue today of whether volunteer civil defense workers should be paid for emergency work.

In the Senate as the general assembly convened for the eighth week of the 1951 session, the deadlock over confirmation of Gov. John S. Fine's cabinet still churned beneath the surface.

There was a prospect also that legislation fixing July 24 as the date for this year's primary election would be passed finally before the week's session ends on Wednesday.

The Senate-passed election bill setting up machinery for servicemen and women to vote by absentee ballot now is pending in the House. There is a move there to restrict its provisions to men and women in uniform. As now worded the absentee ballot would also be granted to some civilian groups attached to the armed services.

Two Bills Held Up

The question of whether civil defense workers should be paid for emergency work was raised in study of administration bills granting board powers to state and local authorities in time of emergency.

Three of the measures were approved by the House last week by unanimous vote. But two of them were held up. One of those held up fixes $5 a day as compensation for volunteer defense workers. The other provides for the death penalty for industrial sabotage.

Labor groups objected to the death penalty as too severe. That measure was sent to the House Judiciary committee to write in a provision giving courts an option of imposing alternative fines or prison terms.

The Democratic minority submitted an amendment up for vote today to eliminate pay for volunteer defense workers, contending more desirable workers could be obtained without pay. Those amendments also would extend liability protection to volunteer workers in case of injury or death, a protection now provided to state and local jobholders called into emergency service.

Sen. Duff Breaks With Taft On Troops

Detroit, Feb. 20 (AP) — Senator James H. Duff (R-Pa.), making his first major foreign policy speech since taking office in Washington, has broken with the party wing led by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, whom Duff backed for President in 1948.

Addressing the annual convention of the Michigan Republican central committee Saturday night, Duff championed defense of Europe as necessary to U. S. security. He said the sending of troops to Europe should not be made a political issue. Taft holds that it is up to Congress to say when, and how many troops should be dispatched to Europe. As Duff sees it, that's for the military leaders to decide.

"We must all join in attempting to arrive at a forceful American policy tending to secure peace, shorn of all political considerations whatever," Duff asserted. "In reality, what is now being debated is whether the judgment of our military high command is sound in seeking at this time to increase the number of our troops employed in the European theater."

STERILIZATION BILL PASSED

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—A House bill today proposed sterilization of mental defectives in Pennsylvania. The measure, introduced by Rep. Charles R. Reagan (R-Union), is aimed at making otherwise ineligible defectives fit for release on parole. Such an operation would be legal, however, only if approved by a three-member medical board.

Final decision on the question of sterilization of any mental defective would rest with the board, composed of two physicians, one a psychiatrist, and the head of the institution where the person is confined.

The board would first decide if the person was mentally inferior, and secondly if sterilization would render the person eligible to retake his place in society.

Once the decision was taken to perform a sterilization operation, at least 30 days advance notice of the operation would have to be given to next of kin or the guardian, who would have the right to appeal.

Persons performing such operations without following the prescribed legal steps, would be subject to $5,000 fine or two years in prison or both.

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP) — President Truman and Gen. Omar N. Bradley have exploded whispered rumors that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority in Korea had been scaled down.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said in an interview on Sunday: "General MacArthur is in full command in Korea. He has absolute control over the Korean War operations and Washington has taken over none of the direction," scheduled to reopen.

St. William's parochial school here and Immaculate Conception Parochial school in nearby Jenkintown, and Lower Moreland township high school and elementary school were ordered closed by the increasing prevalence of flu in their districts.

THIS FELLOW HAS DOUBLE TAX PROBLEM

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—Things are getting so tough that Joe Stalin is talking to himself and guys are asking me how they can slip a fast one over on the old lady.

Maybe it just goes to show that while presidents and senators and generals and generalissimos are having worries, a lot of other people must be having worries, too.

It was only last week that Joe Stalin, who seems to have something bothering him, had an interview with himself. Of course, the stories out of Moscow said Stalin gave an interview to a reporter from Pravda, the Russian newspaper.

But since Joe controls the paper and everybody working for it and everything that goes into it, it all wound up with Joe talking to Joe and Joe asking Joe questions which Joe answered.

In A Kind Of Pickle
And this week I got a letter from a guy who's in a kind of pickle at home and he must want someone to talk to, besides his wife, because he wrote me a fairly long letter.

Judging from what he said, I guess his old lady would part his hair with a coffee pot if she recognized him and her in the letter and found out what he was up to.

So just in case, I'll change the letter a bit but in only one place. That's where he says how long he's been married. I'll change the number of years. But all the rest of the letter which follows is just as he wrote it.

His Problem

"Dear Mr. Marlow:
"My problem is one that Uncle Sam has probably never considered. I have been married to my wife 17 years and also have a widowed mother who requires my aid.

"Helping my mother has been a sore spot with my wife and more so since my assistance does not equal one-half of my mother's income. So I cannot take credit for her as a dependent on my income tax return.

"A few months ago I received additional compensation which I have concealed from my wife in order to assist my mother without having to go through hell at home. However, I am not going to withhold reporting the added income to Uncle Sam. In fact, I can't, because my employer turns in his report of said monies. Here comes the question:

Millions Interested
"Suppose I make out a return showing my old (previous) income and have my wife sign it. Then I make a correct return and copy her signature on it—and destroy the false return. Technically, that would be forging my wife's name but I wouldn't be cheating Uncle Sam and I'd be free from all worry.

"If I ever got caught by the Department of Internal Revenue for forging my wife's name, would they prosecute me under the circumstances?

"I'll wager millions of men would appreciate some comment by you re this matter since I'm sure not all wives are aware of their husbands' exact income, and a lot of men are wondering how to get by at this time of year.

"Very truly yours,

"XXXXXX"
Well, now, Jack, I'll tell you how it is. . . . You'll have to excuse me. The phone's ringing.

But I just wanted to tell you I showed your letter to some of the boys in the office. They're almost

Three Generations
John George Eisenhart was the oldest son of the immigrant, born August 12, 1759. He was also a blacksmith, interested in farming, and saw service in the Revolutionary war with the York county militia. Other members of the second generation included Conrad Eisenhart, II, and Jacob Eisenhart.

Mr. Eisenhart traces his family tree through the third generation: of Conrad Eisenhart's descendants to his father, namesake of the book, who was born September 26, 1851, on his father's farm near East Berlin. He was the youngest of 11 children. The son says of him:

"As a boy he often went to East Berlin, usually to visit the candy shop which was located a door or two from the site of the present Lutheran church. The proprietor was George Heidler and the candies he sold were mainly home-made walnut and shellbark taffies."

Painter By Trade
John Franklin Eisenhart was a painter by trade, and he and his men painted scores of houses and barns within a radius of 15 to 20 miles of his home. Later he began to buy and sell produce. He was interested in the civic life of Abbottstown and held office on several occasions. His wife was Catherine Mummert Wolf. Four children were born of the marriage, of which Willis Wolf Eisenhart was the second. Mr. Eisenhart is still living.

The author is an only son. He devoted the major portion of his life to teaching. He taught Sunday school classes for more than 50 years and spent 45 years in the field of public education, beginning his career in the rural schools of Adams county in 1894.

He was supervising principal of Morris township public schools and of the Clarion public schools. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. He became district superintendent of the Tyrone, Pa., schools in 1921 and resigned this position in 1939, retiring from active service in the field of education.

COMMUNISM — WHAT'S THAT?

These fellows have certainly heard of the word Communism, but they probably don't know much about what it means. They believe in freedom—freedom to play ball—start a club—go to the movies and freedom to choose their friends as they like them. None of them have stopped to think that they are being democratic. They just know the way things ought to be.

Communism would have a tough time getting into this club . . . because the kids have been taught by their parents and the schools to work together and most of all to judge others by their individual value and not by the color of their skin or where their parents came from.

Communism thrives on dissension — Management against Labor — Christian against Jew — White against Negro — yes and even dissension among the youth is important to their program.

Don't allow group prejudice to infect your community. Don't listen to it. Don't practice it. Don't accept it. Don't condone it. Now is the time for all of us to stand and be counted against those things which will weaken our country. Group prejudice is one of them!

STATE SENATE REJECTS MAIZE IN TEST CASE

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Senate in its first show-down vote on Gov. John S. Pine's cabinet refused to confirm Richard Maize for another term as secretary of mines but Republicans voted to hold off officially telling the governor of the rejection.

By this delaying strategy last night Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader, said his fellow Republicans had made possible reconsideration of Maize's confirmation. The vote on Maize was 25-23 for confirmation, nine short of the required two-thirds majority.

The Republican move for a show-down on Pine's long-hanging cabinet appointments brought a Democratic charge that Maize was used as a "guinea pig" in a parliamentary experiment.

First of 15

The name of the 75-year-old Uniontown mines expert was the first of 15 cabinet appointees brought to the Senate floor by the GOP controlled Senate Executive Nominations committee.

When Maize failed to receive approval, Republicans staged off confirmation action on the remaining appointments. Democrats attempted to bring about a vote next on M. F. Draemel, Forests and Waters secretary, but failed.

The 20-vote Democratic bloc—in a position to refuse all executive nominations—renewed its position that no confirmations will be made until Pine submits the name of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti.

An Opposition Target

Margiotti has been a Democratic target since he took over an investigation of "free work" charges in Democratic-controlled Pittsburgh.

Bill Would Give Pa. Teachers Raise

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 60,000 public school teachers would get an immediate $400-a-year salary increase under a bill before the House today.

The measure, backed by the Pennsylvania State Education Association, would also provide a substantial boost in minimum and maximum teacher pay scales.

The PSEA, representing most of the state's public school teachers, estimated the additional cost to the state would run about $69,000,000 during the next two years.

John M. Lumley, PSEA president, declared in a statement that the proposed salary increases are necessary "if we hope to recruit new teachers and hold our present teachers in their positions."

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, emphasized that his party's vote against Maize was not against the man himself but against Pine's failure to submit Margiotti's name for confirmation.

In a fiery debate preceding the vote Dent spoke of Maize: "If you allow this to happen today, you are doing an unfair thing to a man who does not deserve a low blow." In reply, Walker said the vote "has nothing to do with the issue of whether Margiotti has a right to be Attorney General." The question, Walker said, was whether Maize "who has served long and faithfully" was to be confirmed.

Maize, who is en route to St. Louis on official business, has been head of the Mines department since under former Gov. Arthur H. James. He has been with the department for 40 years.

Two small mammals, the water and long-tailed shrew, never previously found south of West Virginia, have been discovered in Great Smoky Mountains National park, Tennessee.

"HOST MOTHER" BEARS ANOTHER COW'S TEST CALF

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20 (AP)—A "host mother" has given birth to another cow's calf, University of Wisconsin researchers announced.

It is the first instance on record of a fertilized ovum being transferred successfully from one cow to another, the experts said yesterday.

The experiment was conducted jointly by the American Foundation for the Study of Genetics, the United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Dairy Industry and the University College of Agriculture.

University spokesmen said that although some livestock research workers have suggested that egg transfer methods might some day be of direct value to dairymen in herd improvement, the present work does not seem to offer practical techniques along this line.

Had To Slaughter Cow

They said a full report is being prepared but will not be available for several weeks.

In the experiment it was necessary that the first cow be slaughtered immediately after being bred so that the fertilized eggs could be removed. Development of a method to remove the ovum without killing the cow must be perfected before the transfer will be practical, the specialists said.

If the transfer methods, without loss of the cow, should be perfected it would be possible to take the ovum from the better cows and give it to lower grade animals. In this way a high grade cow could provide the ovum for many calves each year, instead of for only about one every nine or 10 months, the normal gestation period.

sided at the meeting with 97 Lions and guests in attendance. A moving picture on the building of Boulder dam and its power plants was shown. The film was secured through the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Mr. Ullrich, as a member of the Gettysburg Lincoln Stamp club, called the attention of the members of the Lions club to the "Stamp of the Century" contest in which the Gettysburg Lincoln commemorative stamp is now among the leaders and told the clubmen how they could cast ballots for the Gettysburg stamp.

FACTS ABOUT PLANT DISEASES

There are several important facts about common plant diseases which every farmer, orchardist, vegetable gardener and flower grower may and should understand clearly. They are not by any means complex, hard-to-grasp truths, couched in difficult and lengthy scientific names. The need for gaining more familiar knowledge in these matters is seen in the urgency for better control over the prevention of many costly plant ills.

Plant diseases are caused by three main groups of causative agents — bacteria, fungi, and viruses. Farther south a fourth cause exists — nematodes, which are tiny organisms known as eel worms, which burrow into roots and cause knots or galls. Winters in this latitude restrict nematodes chiefly to greenhouses.

Bacteria consist generally of single cells; fungi are made up of thread-like filaments. Units of neither can be seen without the aid of a powerful microscope.

Bacteria multiply by cell division. A single bacterial cell is divided into two bacteria by the formation of a wall through the parent cell. Each newly formed cell soon divides again, thereby making four cells. To comprehend more clearly the amazing rate at which bacteria increase in number, let us imagine the process on a daily basis. Suppose a single cell divides today, each of the two cells divide tomorrow, the four divide day after tomorrow, and on and on. At the end of the fortieth day there would be a total of more than 549 billion cells, truly an incomprehensible number.

Fungi reproduce by various types of spores. Country children are well acquainted with the "puff-balls" found in corn fields in autumn, which when stepped on send up a cloud of brown or grayish dust — fungal spores.

Taking brown rot of peaches as an example, we can better see how these spore operate. Fungal of brown rot live over winter chiefly in or on old mummified fruits remaining on the tree or covered in litter nearby. About the time peach trees come into bloom the over-wintering forms literally shoot spores into the air, some of which lodge on blooms and twigs. These set up a condition known as blossom blight, rendering the blooms sterile. Later the infection may kill the tender shoot. Too, a second set of spores enter the tiny peaches and by the time the fruit is ready to ripen a decay is started which ruins the fruit.

In fungous diseases like potato and tomato blight, which confines its direct damages largely to the foliage, the tiny spores penetrate the leaf surface and enter the cellular spaces. There they extend their thread-like forms out into the sap canals and multiply rapidly.

The reason why bacteria and fungi kill or weaken a plant they infect lies in their parasitic habits. Both groups of organisms lack the green coloring matter found in true plants. This means they cannot manufacture their own food as do trees, vines and all other plants. They are robbers. They live solely on nutrients stolen from the plant they enter. Thus, an infected potato leaf, for example, when invaded by blight fungi actually starves to death because the thread-like filaments clog the sap canals and consume the foods the leaf cells need.

84 COUNTS OF MANSLAUGHTER AGAINST PENNSY

New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 20 (AP) The Pennsylvania Railroad stands accused of manslaughter on 84 separate indictments today—two weeks after "The Broker" crashed 95 Woodbridge with the loss of 84 lives.

The indictments, in the names of each of the dead commuters, were returned last night by the Middlesex County Grand Jury. If convicted on each count, the railroad faces a maximum fine of $84,000.

Since no individual defendants were named in the indictments, which charged that the company did "feloniously kill and slay" the 84 riders, jail terms are not possible.

"Fixing The Blame"

Legal experts said there was a remote possibility that the state's attorney general might instigate further legal proceedings against the road aimed at revoking its operating franchise in New Jersey.

There was no immediate comment from Pennsylvania officials.

Middlesex County Judge Charles M. Morris set March 2 as the date for the railroad to enter pleas to the indictments. As yet, the names of the officials to be asked to appear have not been announced.

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alexander Eber, who presented the case to the jury, would say only that "the indictments speak for themselves." At the start of the probe he said he would press for the indictments "to fix the blame."

The jury returned the multiple indictments after deliberating an hour and forty minutes.

Called "Whitewash"

During the five days the jurors were in session, they heard testimony from railroad officials, and trainmen and passengers who rode "The Broker" the night of February 8 when it lurched off temporary tracks near a newly-constructed wooden trestle in Woodbridge.

The indictments were the first of any kind returned since the disaster—worst since 115 persons died in a rail accident near Nashville, Tenn., in 1918.

Another official investigation into the wreck is being conducted by the New Jersey Public Utility commission. Still another, that of the Interstate Commerce commission in New York, was branded a "whitewash" of the company at its conclusion last week by Benjamin Van Tine, assistant New Jersey attorney general. The ICC has not announced its findings as yet.

AID FOR VETERAN

Harrisburg, Feb. 20 (AP)—Employees of the State Revenue department added another $1,165 to the fund for Robert L. Smith, first quadruple amputee from the Korean war. The money has been turned over to the American Legion at Middleburg, the victim's home post, said Secretary Otto F. Messner.

FOR-AGAINST TAX

Franklin county orchardists voted against a proposed one-cent a bushel tax on all apples produced commercially in Pennsylvania. Adams county growers at their annual meeting at Biglerville voted unanimously in favor of such a tax.

Starvation is seen in brown and dying areas in the leaf.

Viruses cannot be seen by the most powerful magnifying glass. They resemble blood poisoning in human and animal bodies. The lethal virus spreads in the plant sap Mosaic is a common example.

NAZI PRISONER

particularly Communists, although all shades of political thought were represented.

"We were under the SS, and served in a sense as schools in brutality for the training of Himmler's private army. On June 18, 19 and 20, 1938, some 9,000 persons were added to our camp. The group was labeled 'anti-social' by the Nazis, and did contain a minority who were 'anti-social.' But mostly they were just workers. And with that the concentration camp became a forced labor camp, with the men working in the Goering and other plants constructed beside the camps.

"The workers received no pay — the money for the forced labor going to the SS. And the fact that the forced labor camp was there made all labor in Germany 'forced labor.' You either worked as you were told—or you went to the concentration camps.

Kept Red Party Alive

"The forced labor camps in Russia have served the same purpose to force all labor along the lines desired by the government. Among the Russians if a laborer is late three times to work, he is sent to a concentration—or forced labor camp. Thus all labor is kept in line."

The concentration camps in Germany served to keep the German Communist party alive, Langerhans declared. "In concentration camp we found ourselves the prisoners of two dictatorships. There was a Communist dictatorship operating under the Nazi dictatorship. There was a kind of dungeon democracy in the camps, with the prisoners setting up a government responsible to the SS troops. And the Communists were able to control that government.

Compares Camps

One great difference between the Nazi and Russian concentration camps was noted by Langerhans. "Where the Nazi concentration camps were notorious for brutality, there was a kind of equality, particularly in food. The Germans went to extremes to see that all got the same amount of food. In Russia food is used for punishment and reward. Those who do more work get more food. Those who do less work, or are being punished, get less food. Even in the punishment barracks in German camps, the prisoners received the same food."

Forty-nine attended the meeting Monday evening with the president, Dr. Kenneth Smoke, presiding. Dr. Bruce Wolff, vice president, introduced the speaker, noting that Doctor Langerhans is a great-nephew of the German scientist who discovered the isles of langerhans in the pancreas, a notable step forward in medicine.
